CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Proposals for talks and workshops can be submitted until February 1, 2016. Due to the expected high number of proposals, early submission is strongly encouraged.

TALK (15+5 MIN)

You would like to present an interesting new initiative in mathematics communication or propose a discussion around relevant issues in the field? Talks will be presented in 5 subsequent tracks over 3 days of the conference. For each talk, 15 minutes of presentation and 5 minutes of discussion are allocated.

WORKSHOP (11 H)

You would like to lead a workshop for a team of up to 15 participants working on a communication project? Workshop projects last 11h over 3 days and can range from developing a new exhibition module, prototyping a mathematics communications app to drafting a white paper on new strategic aims for mathematics communication.

Please visit the conference website for more detailed information and submission guidelines or get in touch via email.
